Our goal is to make Mississippi's nonprofit sector the strongest in the nation within the next 10 years. Ambitious? Yes, but we have so much to build on. Mississippians are givers, leading the nation in individual generosity. Mississippi's faith communities abound. It's people believing in helping each other. Working together, we can work smarter. Working smarter, we can become a national model, improving economic development as we better our quality of life.

Below, you will find an array of sponsorhip opportunities the Center has available.
